Representing the classic California Style of police symbolism, the simple design of the seven point star has been one of the most recognized badge shapes in law enforcement since the late 1880's. Produced in the highest quality by one of the oldest continuously operating badge producers on the west coast, the Ed Jones Company has been selected to produce these fine collectable pieces for the 2011 National Police Collectors Show. A change from the previous years, the badge orders will be submitted directly to the Ed Jones Company. You are encouraged to take advantage of this rare opportunity to obtain a collectable badge in the highest quality to commemorate the return of the National Police Collectors Show to California. Based on the many options available to the exhibitors, no badges will be available for purchase at the show.
